ISSUES OF THE CAMPAIGN WERE CLEARLY DEFINED

Gov. Kitchin Made Able Speech in Court House Last Night.

Was Heard by Large and Enthusiastic Audience—Concise Definition of High Protective Tariff—Protection Not Cause of High Wages Or High Prices For Farm Products—Gov. Defies Republicans to Show Where They Practice Local Self-Government.

The court house was filled to its capacity last night when Col. James T. Morehead rapped for order and introduced the speaker of the occasion, Gov. W. W. Kitchin. Every seat was taken and the gallery was filled while fully a hundred stood during the entire time the Governor spoke. It was the largest and most enthusiastic Democratic or Republican gathering that has assembled in Greensboro during the campaign.

Always an eloquent speaker Governor Kitchin was at his best last night and he held the unwavering attention of the large audience during the two hours he spoke. His discussion of the tariff was the ablest heard in Greensboro this year and he showed conclusively that the tariff has no connection with the high wages that are being paid for labor, nor does the tariff cause the high price of farm products. He compared the records of the two parties in this state and lamented the fact that the Republicans could have brass enough to ask the people of the State to vote for men whom President Taft had said were not fit to hold public office. He said that the Republicans always raised more racket over who should be boss than who should be nominated for offices of public trust.

After throwing some light on the various Republican candidates in the State the Governor turned his attention to the State Chairman, Mr. Morehead, who had been tempted from the Democratic ranks by the lust for office. And who is the power behind Morehead, asked the Governor. "Marion Butler, a political adventurer, who is ever willing to do anything that will promote his individual interests," He pointed out Mr. Butler's past record and said that he was denouncing the Republican party only a few years ago. Later he took up the bond question and said that the evidence was overwhelming against the wily politician. He said the advertisement with Butler's name appeared in the papers 5 years ago, but he had never denied it until now. He argued that the denial through Mr. Pettigrew was a fixed job, planned by the two years ago, and urged that all attempted explanations be taken with a grain of salt and that the people, the jury in the case, scan the evidence of the defendant and scrutinize it carefully before believing it.

The growth of the State since the Republicans were last in power was reviewed and compared with the condition in which the Democrats found the affairs of the State when the Republicans went out. They charge us with extravagance, said the speaker, but they cannot show us where we have been extravagant. It is not the amount of money you spend, but how you spend it, he argued. It is better to spend $1,500 wisely than $1,000 foolishly, he said. What is the reason for a change, asked the Governor, and have we any guarantee that conditions will not get worse instead of better if we do change. Are not the Democratic candidates as good if not better than the Republican candidates?

The speaker went to the local self-government plank with a vim. "If the Republicans favor local self-government why don't they want the postmasters, district attorneys, judges and marshals elected by the people, instead of being appointed by the President, who is over 300 miles away?" he asked. "I am in favor of electing these federal officers by the people. The Republican party does not believe in local self-government, but that plank is in their platform to catch the unwary wet Democrat. Some Republicans wanted local option, but the subject was too hot to handle and this ambiguous plank was substituted to be used as the occasion seems to demand."

Gov. Kitchin explained the whole last Legislature with regard to anti-trust laws and stated that the party platform had been lived up to. He also explained his action in pardoning criminals, (especially Baxter Shemwell, though he called no name). He said he had gone over all the testimony and papers in the case and felt that he was in a position to know better what was right and just than a person who knew nothing of the merits of the case and cared less. He said he expected to be criticized when he was elected, but he intended to do his duty as he saw it regardless of what critics might say.

Gov. Kitchin then turned his attention to the tariff. The Democratic party believes that it is not right to use any tax except for the public's benefit, while the Republican party believes in imposing a tax and giving part of it to subsidies. He then gave an excellent illustration of the workings of the tariff. Taking a hat for an example he said a certain hat could be made at home and abroad for $2. A tariff of 50 per cent. is imposed and the foreign made hat is taxed $1 in the form of tariff. This makes it impossible for the foreign hat to be sold for less than $3. The American hat manufacturer therefore sells his hat for $2.95 or a little less than the foreign man can sell at. In consequence the home hat is purchased and the high tariff enables the hat manufacturer to make 95 cents profit on his hat. But, he said, they argue that this protection enables the American workman to get higher wages. The Governor pointed out that cotton raisers, on which there is no protection, pay higher wages than do the sugar makers, who are amply protected. Every man is going to hire labor as cheap as possible whether the article he makes is protected or not, and the laborer is going to get the best wage possible, argued the speaker, and in consequence thereof the unprotected man has to pay just as high for his labor as does the man who is protected. So it is opportunity and not the tariff that fixes wages. The speaker pointed out that in different sections of the country different prices are paid laborers of the same class, despite the fact that the same tariff is over all.

In concluding Gov. Kitchin urged the Democrats present to get busy that the Republicans were going to get out and vote and it behooved every true Democrat to spread himself from now until next Tuesday and to make Guilford roll up at least 2,000 majority this year. Gov. Kitchin's speech was heartily received and frequently he was interrupted by applause. There was no bitterness in the speech, nor were there any attacks on the character of any individual Republican more than to repeat what President Taft said regarding the incompetency of certain Republicans to serve as district judges. The speaker used a number of jokes to fine advantage in illustrating points brought out in discussing the issues of the day. When he concluded a large number gathered to shake the Governor's hand.

MR. JESSE KINGLEMAN DEAD.

Aged Man Passed Away Wednesday Night—The Funeral At Proximity Saturday.

Mr. Jesse Kingleman, an aged citizen of White Oak, died Wednesday night at a local institution. He was 75 years of age and had been sick for about a year. The funeral will be held at Proximity cemetery Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock and will be in charge of White Oak Council, Junior Order, of which the deceased was a member.

Mr. Kingleman came to White Oak just after the big mill was completed and lived there continuously ever since. He followed the seas for 45 years and was a great favorite among the residents of the mill village. He would often regale his friends with tales of thrilling adventures he met while at sea.

For the past year or more he was unable to work and was cared for by the members of White Oak Council, Junior Order. The order bears the expense of the funeral and the members notified the undertakers to prepare the body in a nice casket. The remains will remain at the undertaking parlors of Huntley-Stockton-Hill Company until the funeral Saturday afternoon.

Do you want your children properly fitted with good shoes that will wear well and be a pleasure to them and you too? If so bring them in to our children's day tomorrow. J. M. Hendrix & Co.

The Arts and Handicrafts Shop. The Arts and Handicrafts Shop will be open Tuesday and Saturday afternoons in November from 3:30 to 6 o'clock.

It Was The Best One of Series.

So Declared Those Who Heard Missionary Tell of India Last Night—This Country Has Many Characteristics—People Sadly In Need of Gospel, Said Speaker—Many Beautiful Views Showing Landscapes, Etc.

The last in point of date proved to be first in quality of the four addresses given under the auspices of the Laymen's Missionary Movement by Mr. Cameron Johnson in West Market Street Methodist church.

The land considered last night was India. And the speaker noted its characteristics in contrasts which were forceful. India is the second largest of present day empires; yet it is made up of so many tribes that it is doubtful whether there is any other empire where one and another of its native dialects is understood by so small a per cent of the whole population.

Great Britain has been an untold boon to India in unifying it governmentally and providing a common language in all the schools.

The British have saved millions of lives by building vast irrigation reservoirs to store water to prevent famine; and by building railroads so that supplies can be quickly and inexpensively shipped into famine districts.

Nevertheless through the perversity of human nature the blessings of English rule are some times not appreciated, for one old Brahmin complained bitterly because the British courts treated all men as equal before the law whereas he contended that any honest government would concede that Brahmins had a right to everything while coolies had no rights at all.

The lecturer spoke of India as a land of miracles, citing the miracle of nature, in raising the Himalayas "The Roof of the World" over 29,000 feet in the air for God alone to stroll upon since man may not live at a height of much over 21,000 feet.

To the speaker the architecture of India seemed the miracle of man. But the great miracle was the miracle of the Gospel whereby in only a century there have been won a million and a quarter of Christians from the most sensual heathenism to be found.

As the lecture last night was the strongest in the course; so the views shown were the most compelling.

No one of clear judgment could look upon these views of Indians and not be convinced of the magnificent material in the Indian; and also of the non-Christian Indian's need of new motive and a ballast weighty enough to save from wreck.

There were slides showing the Indian Widow Romabi and her daughter who by prayer support and administer an orphanage with 500 child-widows, 1000 girl famine refugees and 126 boy famine sufferers. Ramabi knows every one of her family of 1626 by face and name together.

Landscapes of palms and medallions of temples will long illuminate many memories.

The Telegram is requested to thank the ladies who kindly removed their hats during the lectures, this thoughtfulness on their part adding considerably to the comfort and pleasure of those who happened to sit in the rear.

Building Permits.

Inspector Milton yesterday issued permits to R. B. Hilton for the erection of three six room houses in the eastern section of the city, just off East Market street. The estimated cost of each house is $500.

Kurtzner to Roads.

Robert Kurtzner, the young white man convicted of larceny, was taken to the roads yesterday to begin his four months sentence.

The children need good shoes. We are prepared for them and it will be our pleasure to see that they are properly fitted. Bring them down tomorrow. J. M. Hendrix & Co.

NEED OF PURE WATER SUPPLY

Nothing More Essential to Public Health.

Medical Society Discusses Diseases That Are Caused by Using Impure Water—In Cities No Person Should Use Well Water If They Can Help It—Campaign of Education Necessary to Arouse People to Dangers of Infected Water Supply.

At the meeting of the Guilford County Medical Society yesterday afternoon in the Carnegie library the subject for discussion was "Drinking Water" and the chief plea of every physician who discussed the subject was for education. The physicians of the county have awakened to the fact that to prevent diseases the people have got to be educated as to the whys and wherefores of the disease; they must be shown that such a disease is preventable and then they must be made to see the causes of such a disease and the ease with which the causes can be overcome. When this is done then great good will have been accomplished by the medical profession.

Dr. W. S. Rankin, secretary of the State Board of Health, stated that the Guilford society was the first in the State to realize that they must be the great factor in bringing about the much needed reformation along sanitary lines and he congratulated the society upon the work being done looking to this end. Doctors, he said, are in a position to know more than other people of the laws of nature and in holding public meetings and discussing subjects of such importance to the welfare of the people and thus giving them the benefit of their knowledge the Guilford society had set an example that he hoped all societies in the State would follow.

It was brought out that while Greensboro's water supply may not be as good as it should be it is better than in some other cities of the State and with such precautions as are now being taken Greensboro people need have no fear of the water supply being impure. It was shown that in a majority of the typhoid fever cases in the city the victims of the disease were using well water and some of the other cases had not been looked into fully. It was brought out that well water should not be used if it can be prevented and then to be on the safe side the well water should be boiled, while in some cases it is absolutely necessary to boil well water if the health of the users is to be preserved.

Dr. D. A. Stanton, of High Point, spoke on "Conservation Through Sanitation as Related to Drinking Water" and he pointed out the many evils that result from the use of polluted water. He pointed out that the physician must educate the people to the point where they will see their danger and legislate so as to protect those who are unable to help themselves. He urged that municipalities should be urged to put city water in the reach of every citizen possible. The family physician should encourage the use of city water and discourage the use of well water at every opportunity.

Dr. Edmund Harrison spoke on "A City Well." A city well is usually a city "sick," he said. He spoke of the great evils of well water and declared that in connection with the surface privy well water is the greatest menace to public health. He showed that in many cases where wells are used surface privies abound and the users never give a thought to surface drainage, but allow the surface water to soak through all kinds of filth right into the well and then they use the water. To overcome the use of well water was a problem, he said, because in many cases the people have no other water to use. However, he urged that the people who have to use well water be shown the importance of boiling it, especially where the well is badly located.

Dr. W. J. McAnally, of High Point, brought out the many diseases that are contracted through the use of impure water, especially typhoid fever. He showed that needless suffering, to say nothing of expense, is brought about because the water supply is impure. He deplored the fact that some cities in the State sell impure water to the citizens.

Mr. W. T. Sergeant was before the society and gave a considerable amount of information regarding Greensboro's water supply. He stated that there were a number of sections in the city in which water was needed, but the city was financially unable to place as many mains as it would like to. He said that when the city purchased the plant some years ago it was entirely inadequate to supply the present users and therefore the work had been to get an adequate supply of water for the entire town before additional mains were laid. Now five million gallons per day can be furnished. He explained the various filters and settling basins through which the water passes after being pumped from Reedy Fork. He also explained the precautions that are being taken to prevent unsanitary conditions on the water shed. He stated that the monthly analysis always showed the water to be good with no alum. A number of photographs of the Reedy Fork reservoir and other parts of the water works system were shown.

Dr. Rankin told of the work being done throughout the state to prevent impure water being sold to the public. When water is found to be impure by three analyses the fact is published and the water sellers do not like publicity of this sort so they get busy and remove the cause at once. Especially is this true of the sellers of mineral water. The State Board of Health requires monthly reports from all concerns selling water and in this way close touch is kept with conditions throughout the State. He commented on the manner in which the supply of water for Greensboro is obtained. Dr. Rankin was asked whether in his opinion the Guilford College sewer, which is dumped into a meadow half a mile from Horse Pen creek 7 miles above the intake at Reedy Fork, would contaminate the water supply and he replied that he did not think it would; that the water would more than likely purify itself while coming that distance even if the sewer dumped directly into the creek. However, he added, if the sewer was used more extensively the State Board of Health would require a septic tank for the sewer, as would probably be done in the future.

Following the address an informal discussion was held and a number of questions asked Dr. Rankin. At the close of the meeting an informal luncheon was served in the annex of West Market church.

At the December meeting of the society the subject will be "Pellagra."

A VIGOROUS COMPLAINT

A few weeks ago, physicians, health officers and civic workers held a meeting and discussed the advisability of having a fall cleaning of the city. The physicians urged the importance of this, citing numbers of other towns in which typhoid and malarial fevers were raging, and stressing the importance of proper precaution here as a prevention of such in our city. The week for the cleaning was set and hundreds of wagon loads of rubbish from yards, back lots, streets, alleys, sidewalks and vacant lots were hauled away. The work was finished and the interested workers in the movement were congratulating themselves on the result when a rumor became circulated that the city had found a new dumping ground! Upon investigation it was found to be in the borders of Fisher Park!

A number of the "Interested" visited the spot and to their astonishment and mortification found that load after load of the trash and rubbish from the fall cleaning had been piled in one repulsive and disgusting heap of tin cans, kettles, broken glass, crockery, papers, rags, shoes, etc., within a stone's throw and in full view of our beautiful boulevards, and homes of some of our most prominent residents.

It seemed incredible that our city in this enlightened day of proper methods of sanitation for the public health and welfare of her citizens would permit so slovenly, repulsive and dangerous a disposal of her garbage, and to deliberately prepare offensive breeding places for germs of all kinds by piling old tin cans and kettles where water will stagnate and hatch mosquitoes by the thousands and they in turn cause fevers and other ills that flesh is heir to.

If our city cannot afford an incineration plant it is urged again that some open space be procured in a field in the outskirts and an opening made for the disposal and burning of garbage, that the beauty of our parks and country roads and the health of our citizens be not impaired.

PLANS FOR A NEW STATION

Fayetteville to Have $30,000 Structure.

Atlantic Coast Line Will Build Passenger Station, Which Will Be Used by Raleigh & Southport Road—Big Damage Suit Ends—Charters Issued Yesterday—Two Marriages—Ventilating and Lighting Apparatus in Capital Building.

Raleigh, Nov. 3.—A Wake Superior court jury this afternoon returned a verdict for the railroad company in a $25,000 damage suit by Flowers Robertson vs. Raleigh & Southport Railroad Co. The damage demanded was for having his foot crushed near Fuquay Springs while attempting to adjust a coupling between cars. It was shown that he went between cars while they were moving, slipped and fell so that a car wheel passed over his foot.

The Corporation Commission received today from the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad Co. plans for a $30,000 passenger station at Fayetteville where the railroad company has been contending for the right to remodel the present old station which the commission declined to allow on the strength of protests from the citizens. The plan is to require the use of the new station by the Raleigh & Southport also thereby giving Fayetteville union station facilities.

The Southern Farms Co., of Southern Pines, was chartered today with $25,000 capital for general agricultural purposes, the incorporators being H. E. Cover and others. Another charter is for the Spring Mills Co., of Richfield, capital $25,000 by M. S. Pence and others for flour and grist milling.

Miss Willa Norris, daughter of Mr. M. T. Norris, prominent wholesale merchant of this city, became the bride of Mr. James McKimmon last evening, the ceremony being in Christ Episcopal church in the presence of an audience that represented the social life of the city and packed the church to the doors. Rev. M. A. Barber, the rector, officiated. Miss Ruby Norris was maid of honor and Mr. Arthur McKimmon was best man. It was one of the prettiest weddings of the season, especially handsome chrysanthemums being used in the decorations and for the bouquets carried by the ladies of the bridal party. Mr. and Mrs. McKimmon have gone for a trip north.

The newly installed ventilating and electric lighting systems for the State capital building were tested this afternoon and showed up very satisfactorily. Both systems are very nearly completed now, except that some of the electric fixtures are delayed in shipment. The principal feature of the ventilating system is an immense electric fan installed in the roof with ducts extending into all parts of the building to control air circulation. Circles of lights in the rotunda and dome are special new features for lighting with new electric fixtures, all over the building.

This afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of the bride Miss Juliana Royster became the bride of Mr. Jacques Busbee, North Carolina's most distinguished artist, who has maintained a studio here for a number of years and executed a number of paintings quite successfully for the State as well as for prominent people in all parts of the state. The ceremony was by Dr. North, pastor of Edenton Street Methodist church, and the couple left on the afternoon train for Chapel Hill where they will spend a couple of weeks. Miss Royster is herself an artist of recognized talent. They will make their home in Raleigh.

Internal revenue collections for this the eastern district of North Carolina, during October aggregated $258,297.37.

The North Carolina Society Sons of the Revolution are arranging for a notable ceremony here November 15 when an oil portrait of General William R. Pave, is to be presented to the state. It is now being painted by Mr. Jacques Busbee, of this city. The address presenting the portrait is to be delivered by Mr. J. O. Carr, of Wilmington, who is a member of the North Carolina Society. It will be accepted by Governor Kitchin. The ceremony is to be in the senate chamber of the State capital building.

ON SPECIALISM.

To Do One Thing Well is Better Than Doing Many Poorly.

Philadelphia Times.
Like little white messengers winging their way across the city, dainty circulars have gone out to scores of prominent women here telling them that one of their number is ready to supply them with "real" Maryland biscuit, Lady Baltimore cake and other Southern dainties for teas or luncheon.

She will succeed because she is specializing, because she is centering her interest and endeavor on those delicacies which she is familiar with. She has put aside her social aspirations, laid off her trailing dinner gown and donned the apron of the cook, and she has not lost, she says, but gained in the exchange.

The great confectioner who died recently won fame and a fortune by making better molasses candy than New York had ever eaten before.

The late E. H. Harriman won fame and fortune because he specialized on railroads. Great surgeons are those who specialize upon one given branch of surgery. Great physicians specialize upon certain diseases, and the world, recognizing their superiority, accepts their words as final and absolute.

So if women want to succeed, in business or the arts, they must first learn to specialize.

Most women, however, who are clever flit from one fad to another, and while they may gather a lot of heterogeneous matter, success and fame pass them by and go to the girl who has put heart and soul into one thing, which she does better than any other.

It isn't what you work is, you know, but how you do it that counts. It's better to be a good cook or an excellent housekeeper than a poor artist or writer, and it's a lot finer and a lot harder to be a good wife than to be a good stenographer. But, however, your talents run, in whatever path of life your feet are set, specialize. Do a few things well and let the others go.

The erratic girl is not the one that we admire and depend on, and the girl with fads is not taken seriously, but the specialist, in whatever branch, is both admired and followed on her path toward the ultimate goal, whatever it may be.

Not Sorry for Blunder.

"If my friend hadn't blundered in thinking I was a doomed victim of consumption, I might not be alive now," writes D. T. Sanders, of Harrodsburg, Ky., "but for years they saw every attempt to cure a lung-racking cough fail. At last I tried Dr. King's New Discovery. The effect was wonderful. It soon stopped the cough and I am now in better health than I have had for years. This wonderful life-saver is an unrivaled remedy for coughs, colds, lagrippe, asthma, croup, hemorrhages, whooping cough or weak lungs. 50c. $1.00. Trial bottle free. Higher Wages for Skilled Labor.

"Why Annie," replied her mistress, "Marie takes care of Fido, while you have merely to look after the children!"

Both Speedy and Effective.

This indicates the action of Foley Kidney Pills as S. Parsons, Battle Creek, Mich., illustrates: "I have been afflicted with a severe case of kidney and bladder trouble for which I found no relief until I used Foley Kidney Pills. These cured me entirely of all my ailments. I was troubled with backaches and severe shooting pains with annoying urinary irregularities. The steady use of Foley Kidney Pills rid me entirely of all my former troubles. They have my highest recommendation." Howard Gardner.

The Difference.

A prominent lawyer of New York city once overheard the following conversation between two boys of the street, (newsboys):

"Say, Harry, what's the best way to teach a girl how to swim?" asked the younger one.

GOES TO WRONG PLACE.

Assemblyman Hoey Talks Anti-"Teddy" And Taft at Meeting.

Assemblyman James J. Hoey, candidate for re-election in the Thirteenth district, who won fame through securing the passage of a law allowing to city employees annual vacations, is recognized as one of the best oratorical talents in the city. A few nights ago he was told to go to Ninth avenue and Fifty-fourth street to address a Democratic crowd at that corner. By mistake he went to Ninth avenue and Fifty-sixth street, where he found a cart and a speaker just finishing. Hoey nimbly sprang up, took off his hat and began to spout. Hoey, by his fiery eloquence, won the audience from the start.

"Gentlemen," he said, after he had dealt in generalities several minutes, "the issue of the campaign is reduction of the cost of living, low tariff, and no Teddy."

Hoey was too much engaged to notice that the chairman was tugging at his coat-tail.

"Yes, gentlemen," he went on, "while personally I admire President Taft, he has not given the country an economical administration."

"Hey," interrupted the chairman, "who and what are you? This is a Republican meeting."

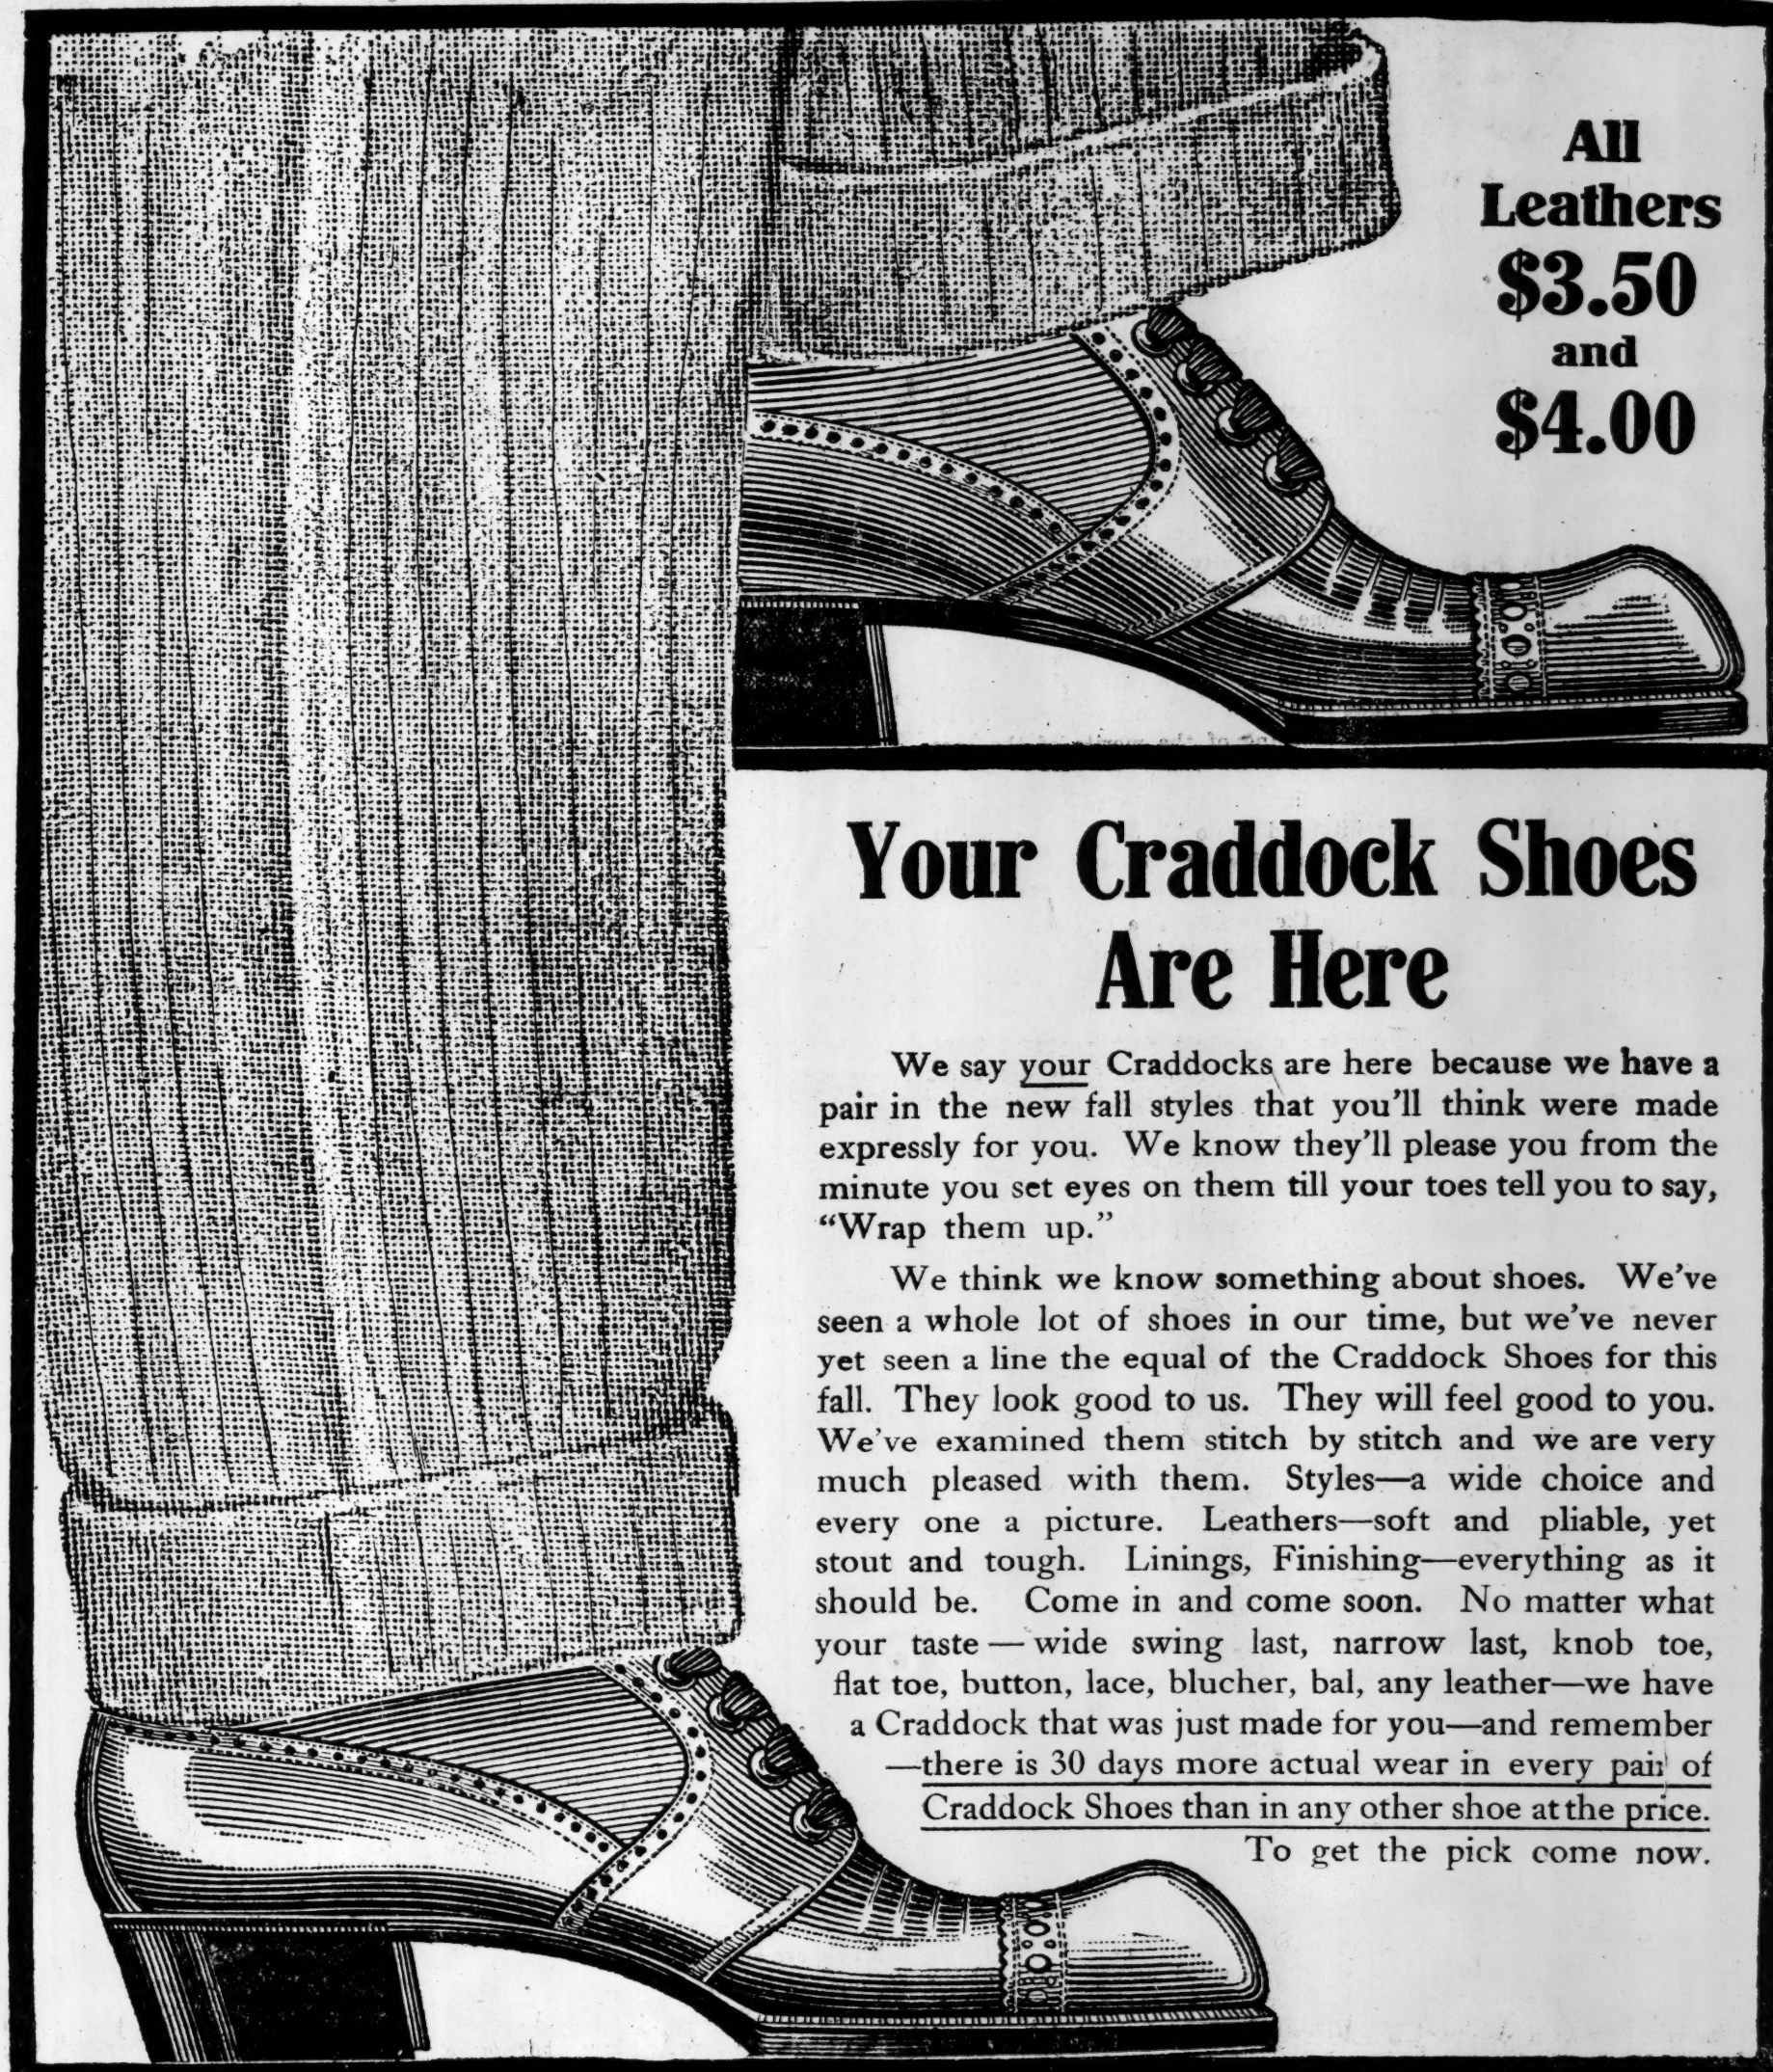

"Guess I must have struck the wrong corner," apologized Hoey; "gentlemen, excuse me."

But as he went away the crowd gave him a big cheer.

Mr Otto Paul, Milwaukee, Wis., says: Foley's Honey and Tar is still more than the best. He writes us, "All those that thought it is the best for coughs and colds they ever had and I think it is still more than the best. Our baby had a bad cold and it cured him in one day. Please accept thanks." Howard Gardner.

Year after year Marion Butler stuck to his self-appointed task of getting control of the Republican party and finally he succeeded. Now he is trying to get control of the State but this latest undertaking is a different proposition from that other one. It is harder to fool the great mass of the voters than it is to fool the men who constitute a Republican State convention.

The Telegram acknowledges the receipt of a very interesting booklet got out by the Norfolk-Southern Railroad Company. "All In Your Favor" is the title of the booklet, which typographically no less than as regards contents is very attractive. The Norfolk-Southern claims that Tidewater Virginia and Eastern North Carolina are regions where all conditions are in favor of a happy and prosperous existence. The booklet is abundantly illustrated with pictures of scenes of the various industries which teem in eastern North Carolina.

Democratic Candidate John A. Dix, of New York, is not afraid of the redoubtable Roosevelt, but 'tis said he quailed before a woman Wednesday night. The press reports have it that he had barely launched on his address when a shrill feminine voice from the gallery cried, "Mr. Dix, how about woman suffrage?" One can almost feel the silence which followed. Mr. Dix was stumped. The chairman of the meeting came to his relief with a remark which broke the stillness whatever other purpose it may have served. Pretty soon the woman repeated the question and the police, as the woman would not keep quiet, had to remove her from the hall. Who blames Dix for not knowing what to say? Who does know whether woman suffrage would be a good thing or not?

Ex-Senator R. F. Pettigrew, of South Dakota, has written the Raleigh News and Observer in defence of Marion Butler's manipulation of repudiated bonds. Here is his letter, which is very shallow and inadequate:

Gentlemen: My attention has been called to the charges you are making against ex-Senator Marion Butler, of North Carolina, in relation to the donation of the bonds of the State to the State of South Dakota. I will say that I am entirely familiar with this transaction, that the bonds donated to the State of South Dakota by Schaefer Bros., of New York, were the bonds of your State for which the State received the full value of the face of the bonds. All the facts connected with this matter were thoroughly investigated by me before South Dakota accepted the bonds. That whole series of bonds were a legal obligation of the State of North Carolina that ought to have been settled in full, and every citizen of your State who has the good of the State at heart and who is a loyal citizen, jealous of the good name of the State, should, as Senator Butler did, favor the payment of these bonds in full. After the Schaefer case was settled, very many bond holders in the North sent me their bonds for collection against North Carolina, and in this way myself and associates accumulated many millions of these bonds for collection. We wrote to Senator Butler and desired to employ him in that connection. He came to New York and went over all these bonds with us, and after thoroughly examining the same declined to be a party in any way to the collection of these bonds for the reason that they were fraudulent and the State had received but a very small consideration for same. It was largely his attitude upon this subject that prevented the further donation and collection of these bonds. I know that in the heat of a political contest men are liable to say and newspapers are liable to print more with regard to a political opponent than even they themselves would justify in their cooler moments.

I trust that you will feel justified in publishing this letter and thus setting yourself, as well as Senator Butler right before the people of North Carolina.

This is no answer to the charges against Butler. As to the Schaefer bonds, it does not explain what Butler was doing when in the employ of this State as Senator accepting a fee to enforce a claim against his employer. And as to the other bonds, the Pettigrew letter is fatally weak in that it does not explain how it was that Butler, if he didn't think the repudiated bonds in general ought to be paid, was inserting advertisements in the financial columns of the New York papers offering to collect these bonds and declaring that his syndicate was the only one that could collect them.

SHOULD SHOW APPRECIATION

Secretary McLean Says People of City Should Attend Public Meetings of Medical Society.

I wish to call the attention of the citizens of Greensboro to the opportunity afforded them for gaining information in regard to health and sanitation, by attending the public meetings of the Guilford County Medical Association. The meeting held yesterday afternoon in the public library, at which time the subject of water, its source of supply, purity and pollution were discussed, was not only entertaining but was instructive and the information and knowledge to be gained from hearing such excellent papers and talks as were given yesterday afternoon, is calculated to do much good. Our people should show their appreciation of the public spirit of our physicians in giving them the advantage of these papers and discussion on public health by attending these monthly meetings.

Respectfully,
C. C. McLEAN.

Shot Guns on Sunday.

In Municipal Court yesterday morning Buck Green, Hazel Headen and Ludy King, three negro lads, were given a hearing on the charge of shooting guns on Sunday. It appeared that there had been a promiscuous shooting in a certain section of the city and the arrest of the three boys resulted. A nol pros was taken as to Green, while Headen was found not guilty. King did not fare so well and was fined $5 and costs for his offense.

It was rumored here yesterday afternoon that the Asheboro train had turned over. This train did sustain a mishap, but not so serious as the rumors indicated. One coach got on the ground in the High Point yard yesterday afternoon at 1:05 p. m. The worst part of the accident was that the passengers had to walk some distance to get to the High Point depot.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

Col. Neelley was 81 years of age and had been in bad health for some time. For several weeks he had been in a critical condition and his death was not unexpected. Chief of Police C. F. Neelley, a son of the deceased, was with his father, when the end came.

He represented the county in the legislature for several terms and always took a prominent part in the politics of his county. He served the Confederacy with distinction throughout the Civil war.

Insurance Gambling.

The Britisher's favorite gambling is insurance gambling. He will take out a policy against anything, from the death of the king to the loss of a horse race by a thoroughbred. Marine insurance gambling by those who have no direct interest in the safety of a ship or its cargo grew into such abuses that parliament was compelled to pass a drastic act to prevent such gambling on marine accidents and losses by those not otherwise concerned.

Social Sights.

"Mrs. Jangle says she can remember when that fashionable Cumrox family didn't know where the next meal was coming from."

"Well," replied Miss Cayenne, "it's evident she didn't invite them to dine with her then, so there's no reason why they should invite her now."—Washington Star.

Audible Sleep.

"Is Mrs. Schnorer in?" asked the caller.
"Yes, ma'am," answered the maid of all work in the boarding house. "She's at present in her room."

"Are you sure?"
"Yes, ma'am. I just overheard her taking a nap."

His Defense.

"What defense," asked the grafter's wife, "did you make when you faced the investigating committee?"
"I vehemently called the man who had brought the charges a liar."—Chicago Record-Herald.

FINDS HERSELF A COUNTESS

Bride of a Broker To Become Mistress of Chateau in France.

New York, Nov. 3.—A. L. Yarling, a wealthy broker of Pittsburgh, and his pretty young wife, a bride of but a few months, are in New York tonight as the guests of the Countess Gabrielle de Chesnay, of the Chateau Marliu, Paris, and at present at the Plaza Hotel.

The identity of the young wife was not known until about two months ago, after she had been a bride for six weeks. It then became known that she was the granddaughter of the Countess de Chesnay.

The girl's mother, as the result of a marriage, had been compelled to leave France with her husband. They settled in New Orleans, where the husband died, and he was followed a few months later by his widow, shortly after she had given birth to a daughter.

The baby was entrusted to the care of a parish priest of New Orleans, who had funds in trust for her education, but it was not until she was 19 years of age that the girl had the least idea of her ancestry.

The Countess came to this country a month ago. She remained in Washington until the French Ambassador had satisfied himself that the papers, recognizing Mrs. Yarling as her granddaughter and heiress, complied fully with the requirements of the French code.

It is the plan of the Countess, after a visit to Florida with Mr. and Mrs. Yarling to go to New Orleans, where the remains of the girl's mother will be exhumed. All will then go to the French chateau. Mrs. Yarling will then enter into her inheritance.

SMITH GETS EIGHT MONTHS.

Negro Who Stole Goods From Wallace Clothing Company Convicted of Larceny.

In Municipal court yesterday morning Willie Smith, the negro arrested Wednesday afternoon on the charge of stealing goods from the Wallace Clothing Company, was convicted and sentenced to the roads for a period of eight months. In a case charging him with shooting a gun on Sunday judgment was suspended.

In the trial on the charge of stealing goods from the clothing store it developed that he had taken a number of articles and sold them to other negroes for trifling sums. On the strength of his testimony the police have arrested four negroes, Buck Green, Julius Hamlin, Pinkney Lea and Jesse Reid, on the charge of receiving goods knowing them to have been stolen. The negroes deny that they knew the articles they purchased were stolen and affirm that Smith said he had purchased the articles, but would sell them as he needed the money. The four negroes will be given a hearing in Municipal Court this morning.

TIRED OF TURBULENT T. R.

New York Republicans Hopelessly Split By the Colonel.

New York, Nov. 3.—To sum up the New York situation, it seems perfectly clear that if Roosevelt had stayed out of the campaign the Republican ticket would have stood a far better chance of winning than it does now.

Instead of saving the situation, enlisting and uniting his party, he has hopelessly split the Republican ranks and arrayed against the ticket forces that, in the judgment of most persons with a close knowledge of inside politics, render Democratic success inevitable.

Had Mr. Stimson been nominated by the old organization, with the aid of Roosevelt and with the existing conditions on the Democratic side, the funds so liberally provided for the Democrats would have gone to the other party.

The political part of the business world is strictly non-partisan. It contributes to the side it thinks best suited to its purposes and cares not at all whether that side be called Democratic or Republican. It is purely a business proposition with it and nothing else.

For years the political element in Wall street has been back of the Republican organization in State and national fights, because that machine gave it better and fuller protection than could have been obtained under the other. It is also true that no candidate for Governor or for President in 20 years has carried this State who did not have the support of the Wall street forces. In every election they have been on the winning side, and in those cases have made it the winning side by being there.

Had Barnes, Woodruff and Sherman won at Saratoga, instead of the Colonel, there is little doubt they could have elected their ticket, whether the candidate named had been Stimson or some other. They would of course, have had the Albany graft issue to deal with, but the Murphy support of Dix, and the presence on the Democratic ticket of one of two "weak vessels," would have given opportunity to counteract it. There would have been no split in the organization, the machine would have worked like a clock and the financial resources, as of old, would have been practically unlimited.

This is normally a heavy Republican State and it takes something of a revolution to change it. There would have been no real cry in the Democratic campaign except the graft business and few persons think that would have been effective enough to overcome the customary Republican plurality of 70,000 or 80,000.

But the Colonel won at Saratoga and in a trice kicked from control every machine leader he would reach. He took complete charge of the whole fight and at once became the sole and paramount issue. All others were brushed aside and forgotten. From the start, the fight has been for and against him. The voters of the State have been convinced that a vote for Stimson will help Roosevelt on his way to the White House in 1912 and a vote for Dix will tend to prevent his again becoming President.

The Colonel could have killed this issue with ease at first. His failure, even in the face of requests from friends and the knowledge that it might elect Stimson, makes it impossible to avoid the conclusion that such is really the truth about the fight. The result has been to array against the Republican candidate every anti-Roosevelt element in the State. It has poured money into the usually empty Democratic coffers.

It has unified the Democratic ranks and sent to the support of the Democratic ticket large numbers of conservative Republican business men who abhor the "new nationalism," and look with dread at the possible effect upon the prosperity of the country under continued domination of this tempestuous and radical Roosevelt with his new policies and wild sayings. It has brought strong, though covert, support to the Democrats from those Republican leaders and politicians who hate Roosevelt personally, and who will never forgive him for the manner in which he has treated them.

Marion Butler Here Last Night.

Ex-Senator Marion Butler came in last night on No. 38 and left on the 12:45 train this morning for Raleigh. He speaks at the Capital tonight for the purpose, he states, of answering the charges that have been made against him in connection with the repudiated bonds.

STATE LIBRARY ASSOCIATION

Sixth Annual Meeting of This Organization Will Be Held Next Month in Winston-Salem—Something of the History of the Association.

The North Carolina Library Association will hold its sixth annual meeting in Winston, December 7 and 8, as the guest of the Winston Carnegie Library. The association was formed in May, 1904, to meet a growing demand among the State's library workers for mutual help and to aid the State's educational leaders in their endeavor to call forth and intensify a fine library spirit.

Its purposes are the promotion of library interests, the interchange of experience and opinion, the obtaining of larger results from library labor and expenditure, and the advancement of the profession of librarianship.

At the time of the association's organization, the libraries of the State were operating independently along old lines, each following methods peculiar to itself and more or less antiquated. These varied interests have been called together by the Association, plans for improvement have been thoroughly discussed, and the various libraries represented in the association have become to a much greater extent modernized. The librarians have become acquainted with each other and have experienced the benefits resulting from attendance upon general library conferences and the reading of approved library periodicals.

The association has acted the part of a foster mother to library interests in the State. It has helped directly in the establishment of several recent libraries, and through its membership has aided every community or individual who has sought help at its hands. It has also taken a lively interest in the State-wide movement for rural school libraries and has joined with other organizations in the campaign for a new State Library building in Raleigh.

The most significant work of the association, however, was the securing of the establishment of the North Carolina Library Commission by the recent Legislature, and the consequent opening of the Commission's office in Raleigh, from which library interests will be directed throughout the State in the future. In establishing this Commission the State was brought to recognize the great importance of this special work, and to stimulate and direct it aright opened what may be termed a clearing house for information concerning all phases of library work.

JURY TIED UP.

No Verdict in Case of Lyndon Creagh Vs. N. C. Public Service Company.

Nearly all of yesterday in Guilford Superior court was taken up with the case of Lyndon Creagh, by his next friend, vs. the North Carolina Public Service Company. The case went to the jury late in the afternoon, but the jury was unable to reach a verdict last night. The plaintiff is seeking to recover $10,000 damages because of injuries alleged to have been received because of the negligence of the defendant. The plaintiff contends that while getting off a street car in September of last year the car was started and the plaintiff was thrown to the ground. This is denied by the defendant. Mr. G. S. Bradshaw represents the plaintiff, while Mr. Z. V. Taylor appears for the defendant.

The case of Garland Daniel vs. W. J. Benbow, which was in progress when court adjourned Wednesday, was concluded yesterday morning, the jury returning a verdict for the plaintiff.

The case of W. O. Jones vs. L. L. Hobbs et al was taken up yesterday afternoon and the trial will be resumed this morning.

Senator Overman Tonight.

United States Senator Lee S. Overman will speak at Proximity tonight in the interest of Democracy. The county candidates will also be at Proximity tonight, but will simply announce themselves. Senator Overman is an eloquent speaker and as a campaigner has few equals. A large crowd is expected to be out tonight to hear the issues discussed. The speaking will be in the hall over the Proximity store and will begin promptly at 7:30 o'clock.

The average man pays a lot for his experience, but it is generally worth it.

FRECKLES

November Worst Month for This Trouble—How to Remove Easily.

There is a reason why nearly everybody is freckled by the winds of Autumn, but happily there is also a cure for those ugly blemishes, and no one need stay freckled.

Simply get one ounce of Othine—double strength from Howard Gardner and apply a little of it at night, and in the morning you will see that even the worst have begun to disappear, while the light ones have vanished entirely. Now is the time to rid yourself of freckles, for if not removed now they will stay all winter and spoil an otherwise beautiful complexion.

HOW TO CURE RHEUMATISM

It Is An Internal Disease And Requires An Internal Remedy.

The cause of rheumatism and kindred diseases is an excess of uric acid in the blood. To cure this terrible disease this acid must be expelled and the system so regulated that no more acid will be formed in excessive quantities. Rheumatism is an internal disease and requires an internal remedy. RUBBING with Oils and Liniments WILL NOT CURE, affords only temporary relief at best, causes you to delay the proper treatment, and allows the malady to get a firmer hold on you. Liniments may ease the pain, but they will no more cure Rheumatism than paint will change the fiber of rotten wood.

Science has at last discovered a perfect and complete cure, which is called Rheumacide. Tested in hundreds of cases, it has effected the most marvelous cures; we believe it will cure you. Rheumacide gets at the joints from the inside, sweeps the poisons out of the system, tones up the stomach, regulates the liver and kidneys and makes you well all over. Rheumacide strikes the root of the disease and removes its cause. This splendid remedy is sold by druggists and dealers generally at 50c. and $1 a bottle. In Tablet form at 25c. and 50c. a package. Write to Bobbitt Chemical Co., Baltimore, Md. Booklet free. Tablets sent by mail.

For sale by Howard Gardner, Druggist.

SUFFRAGE POSTER FIASCO.

A new drama has been added to the attractions of Broadway. "The Docking of the Suffrage Poster; or, Why the Yellow Bill Came Down," is the title, and the stage is the headquarters of the Twenty-seventh Assembly district section of the Women's Suffrage party, under the Hotel Normandie.

The posters were the gorgeous saffron affairs printed for Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, and which she distributed herself to the wayfarers around Broadway and Thirty-eighth street, in front of the headquarters, night before last—the ones with "Down With Senator Agnew" at the top and "Vote for Saxe" at the bottom. About half of them were left over, and yesterday morning Miss Mary Donnelly started to paper the walls with them the saffron party was interrupted by Dr. Anna von Sholly, leader of the district, who hadn't seen the posters before. There was a brief but animated conversation between the leader and Miss Donnelly, and then the latter got a pair of scissors and sadly cut the "Vote for Saxe" from every poster in the place.

Act three opened with the entrance of Mrs. Belmont in the afternoon. Mrs. Belmont looked at the tailless posters, one after the other. What was said is not known, but Miss Donnelly made a second tour of the posters and tore every one down.

Dr. von Sholly said last night that the advice to vote for Saxe was "a little mistake" on the part of Mrs. Belmont.

"I suggested that it be taken off," she said. "Mr. Saxe has not told us he was a suffragist; he has merely said that if sent to the Legislature he would vote to get our bill out of committee. And Senator Agnew has not said he was an anti; he is simply withholding his opinion till he gets light. I think it would be very unwise to alienate Senator Agnew by working for Saxe."

Late last night an asheart carried away from Broadway and Thirty-eighth street a heap of posters which unlike little Bo-Peep's sheep, hadn't one of their tails behind them. And down at the offices of the Woman Suffrage party they are wondering what Mrs. Belmont will do next.

Cottolene

Comes from the Land of Sunshine

The very source of Cottolene inspires confidence in the product. It is pure. It comes from the cottonfields of the Sunny South and from cottonfield to kitchen human hands never touch the oil from which Cottolene is made.

Being a vegetable product, Cottolene is pure—and just as digestible as the purest olive oil. You can never be sure of this when using lard, which is simply hog fat—an animal product.

Cottolene is immeasurably superior to lard from a health standpoint. It makes pure, digestible, nourishing food, and food which any stomach can digest.

The careful, once-posted housewife will use Cottolene in place of lard every time.

Mrs. Joseph Chamberlain remains the devoted friend and nurse of the great statesman who is her husband. He is never happy if she is out of his sight for a moment. She is beginning to show signs of her long term of nursing, but she assures all of her friends she is "perfectly happy" and that her only trial would be were anything to happen to "Joe." It is said that some day Mrs. Chamberlain will enter an Anglican sisterhood; she is very devout and is a constant visitor at a well-known convent near Epsom. Most of her private income she gives to charity, but in the most unostentatious manner. The agents who dispense it have strictest instructions never to reveal whence it comes. Her friends have ceased to invite her out now, so persistently does she decline all their invitations. Ever since she has been married she has written twice each week to her mother, never missing a mail no matter where she is.

WAS BALTIMORE CENSUS WRONG?

Director Durand Will Hear Protest if So Desired.

Washington, Nov. 3.—Apropos of the increasing census corrections Director Durand of the Census Bureau said that several months ago he laid down a general rule to be applied to cities and towns whose leading inhabitants have reason to believe the enumerators have not correctly ascertained the population of certain wards.

Mr. Durand holds that it is impossible for the officials of the bureau to locate gross inaccuracies unless their attention is called to them, and in every instance where a recount has been granted wholly or in part the movement necessarily has started in the city or town believed to have been underestimated.

As is well known, the official count of Baltimore census that city to drop below Cleveland, the difference in population between the two being only a few thousand.

The Mayor and other officials of Louisville are now having a contention with the Census Bureau on the ground that they can prove to Mr. Durand that thousands of names were missed in Kentucky's chief city. He has laid a statement before the Louisville authorities, and if they can substantiate his satisfaction the complaint made Mr. Durand is disposed to order a recount in several of the wards.

Many of the leading citizens of Louisville are now busy getting together the facts which they hope will cause a recount that will show that Louisville is entitled to be advanced a number or two in the list of cities.

Seven or eight other cities have filed complaints, but Mr. Durand says that in each case he has insisted that something definite or tangible must be furnished him to prove that the enumerators fell down in their work, otherwise he would not be disposed to order another enumeration.

If Baltimoreans are not satisfied with the count and have reason to believe that a considerable percentage of names were missed a movement will have to be started there to bring the matter before the Director of the Census under the general rule he has laid down regarding protests and a demand for a recount.

A GERMLESS LIFE.

New York Evening Sun.

The extent to which germ theory of disease confines the activities of gilded childhood must be known by personal observation to be realized. Up in the Berkshires, in a beautiful country home the young heir to many millions has struggled up to his fourteenth year surrounded by dotting relatives, who are haunted with visions of microbe armies bent on destroying their youthful darling.

Rarely has he left the estate; then always in a closed carriage or automobile, carefully disinfected before the start. The inside of a train or street car is unknown to him. In his brief intervals in town his playground is the house roof, carefully mopped up with disinfectants before he sets foot upon it. Money he has never been allowed to touch. His diet is the chief interest of a band of doctors and trained nurses. His studies have been pursued at irregular intervals whenever he was quite sure he felt strong enough. "His health comes first" has been the motto of parents and guardians.

Neither dog nor cat nor guinea pig has been allowed to cheer the solitude of this luckless victim of sanitation. He is without companionship because the young of his neighborhood have not reached the antiseptic stage of society. A visiting uncle came to his rescue a year ago with an indignant demand that he be taught to swim. An athletic instructor has been therefore engaged. Three times a week, with the listless interest with which he parses Caesar, the boy goes through a series of athletic instruction while mamma and a trained nurse watch anxiously from a terrace.

A Household Medicine.

To be really valuable must show equally good results from each member of the family using it. Foley's Honey and Tar does just this. Whether for children or grown persons Foley's Honey and Tar is best and safest for all coughs and colds. Howard Gardner.

That Let Him Off.

Van Brouder (between shots): "All this guff about women having the right to vote makes me sick. Woman's first duty is to her children and her home. Townley (unfeeling): "Say, Bill, now I know why you never spent your evenings with the wife and kids—it's because you've got a vote." Puck.

Not "Football Colors" but the color of the cartoon containing Foley's Honey and Tar the best and safest remedy for all coughs and colds. Do not accept a substitute but see that you get the genuine Foley's Honey and Tar in a yellow cartoon with black letters. Howard Gardner.

There is one respect in which a man resembles a fish. He can avoid a lot of trouble by keeping his mouth shut.

Shall Women Vote?

If they did, millions would vote Dr. King's New Life Pills the true remedy for women. For banishing dull, fagged feelings, backache or headache, constipation, dispelling colds, imparting appetite and toning up the system, they're unequalled. Easy, safe, sure. 25c at Pariss-Klutz Drug Co.

FULL DRESS REHEARSAL OF FETE IN FLOWERLAND

Given Yesterday Afternoon and Showed That There Is a Treat in Store For Patrons.

The full dress rehearsal for the Fete in Flowerland as given yesterday afternoon showed that a treat is in store for the public.

The work of the large cast is excellent. Many professionals in fact do not do better work.

The various drills that the countless little children are carried through are thoroughly impressive, showing that good work has been done in getting them adequately trained.

The music is also fine and coupled with the many hued costumes makes a combination of sight and sound that is sure to please. The prospects are bright for large audiences for the two performances, Nov. 4 and Nov. 5.

The Fete in Flowerland is given under the direction of Miss Annie May Moorman, of Lynchburg, Va., assisted by Mrs. Lucille Wilson. They have given it in other places and everywhere it has been received with enthusiasm.

Legally Better Off.

The creditors of the ancient king had become so unpleasantly insistent that he resolved to put them where they could trouble him no more. So he invited them to a great banquet, and when they had feasted and drunk of his prepared wine he instructed his servants to convey them to his deepest dungeons. And the next morning when he went down to learn whether his servants had done his bidding his creditors raised their voices and entreated to be set free. But he remonstrated with them, saying:

"My friends, you have no just cause for complaint. Are you not better off in the eye of the law than ever before? Any lawyer will tell you that a secured creditor has an exceptional cinch." Then he left them and went on his gladsome way, happy in the knowledge that he could at last go through his dominions without being dunned.—Chicago News.

Masculine Music.

The musical doctor stepped into the shop.

His hair stuck out like stiff straws, and his joy of life was under his arm; also two buttons on his waistcoat were undone. So there was no doubt about his being a genius.

The man behind the counter looked flustered. He went to the shelf, took off a small packet, examined it carefully, examined it again and then hesitatingly returned to the customer.

"I beg your pardon, sir," he began diffidently, "but this appears to be my first day in the shop, and yet might give me a little 'elp. The fact is these 'ere strings look all alike to me, an' I can't tell the 'es from the shes!"—London Globe

Firearms in Russia.

As an illustration of how closely everything is watched in Russia, take its system of registering firearms. When a weapon of any kind is purchased a permit must be secured from the local authorities. The name of the man who makes the purchase, with the number of the weapon, is recorded. If the purchaser ever wants to dispose of the weapon he must notify the authorities and cause the transfer to be recorded on the books of the firm which sold it.

An Anachronism.

When some celebrated pictures of Adam and Eve were seen on exhibition Mr. McNab was taken to see them. "I think no great things of the painter," said the gardener. "Why, man, tempting Adam with a pipkin of a variety that was known until about twenty years ago!"

Hindering the Process.

Doctor—Well, John, how are you today?

John—Very bad; very bad. I wish Providence 'ud 'ave mussy on me an' take me.

Wife—Ow can you expect it to if you won't take the doctor's physic?—London Mail

Her Answer.

In inculcating the idea of truthfulness a teacher asked the question, "What is the best thing in the world to do and sometimes the hardest?" A little girl raised her hand timidly. "Well, my child?" "To get married!"

Too Fond of Them.

"Is he fond of outdoor sports?" "Yes. His wife complains that he even invites them home to dinner."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

In an address to a National gathering of financiers, after showing that a Trust Company filled a place never met by any other corporation, closed his remarks by saying: "Character and capital are the best assets of a trust company. Its officers and directors, therefore, should be men of wide experience, men who have tried and who devote themselves with honorable zeal to the high duties of their positions." The Greensboro Loan & Trust Company certainly can point with pride to its directors and general officers—men well known in the financial world for conservatism and high character. In anything financial the Greensboro Loan & Trust Company would be pleased to be consulted.
